OFFICIALS ON WAY TO OHIO WITH YOUNG

Leave from Denver When Extradition Hearing Is Found Unnecessary.

By W. T. BUCHANAN
Marion Star City Editor

Edwin D. Young, 39, indicted here on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of Mrs. Zora Hess Gerbes, 25 last July 11, is on his way back to Ohio today.

Three Marion officers, Prosecutor James E. Reed, Sheriff LeRoy Rettarer and Special Prosecutor Russell M. Wilhelm, left Denver yesterday with the prisoner, and are scheduled to arrive in Marion by train this afternoon.

Word that the Marion party was on its way home came today from Colorado governor, William Lee Knous, in a long distance telephone conversation with The Star this morning.

He said the matter of extradition of Young was merely a matter of routine since the prisoner had signed a waiver for his return to Ohio, soon after his arrest Jan. 4 at Holly, Colo., on a charge of writing worthless checks.

Governor Checks on Case

When The Star called the governor this morning he said the case had not come to his attention officially and that he knew of it only through newspaper accounts. The case was given "quite a play in the newspapers out here," he said.

To clear up the Denver angle of the case Gov. Knous suggested that he call The Star after he had time to check the matter with the Colorado attorney general.

He called within a half hour after he had learned Young had signed an extradition waiver and that a hearing before him was unnecessary.

He reported the Marion party with Young in custody, had reached Denver Saturday night and had lodged the prisoner in the county jail until Sunday morning.

In the meantime the Marion men cleared up the question of extradition procedure and then boarded a train Sunday morning for Chicago.

Governor on Benny Show

Many Marion radio fans who listened to the Jack Benny show last night heard Gov. Knous. He was a guest on the program for which the Benny troupe went to Denver as a March of Dimes benefit.

The Marion party went to Denver from LaJunta, Colo., where Young had been held in safe keeping since a few days after his arrest at Holly.

In the LaJunta jail Friday night the officers obtained a signed confession from Young in which he admitted he killed Mrs. Gerbes in a fit of anger.

Here Is Text Of Young's Confession

The complete text of Young's signed statement, confessing the slaying, appears herewith with a few of the most objectionable sentences deleted:

"My name is Edwin Young. I have been in Coolidge, Kan., since the first part of August until the week before Christmas, 1947, at which time I moved to Holly, Colo. About the first of November I took a trip to Seattle, Wash. I met Geneva Martin in Holly and we were married in Raton, N. Mex., on Christmas day. We have been living together at Holly since that time.

"I met Zora Hess late in 1944 or early 1945 at New Philadelphia, O. I was living there at the time with my wife and my son Clifford. For several days after meeting her I saw Zora Hess around town. About three or four days later I gave her four or five dollars to return to Marion, O. About a week later she wrote me and asked me to come to Marion. I wrote her and told her it was just as close to New Philadelphia as it was to Marion. In about a week she came to New Philly and we loafed around together considerably for several days. Thereafter she came to New Philly several times. We loafed around together when she was in town. Later I moved to Marion, O., which was in the winter of 1947 or possibly about January.

"In April of 1947 I went to work for the Hall Trucking company driving a truck. All of this time I had been seeing Zora Hess. On the evening of July 10, 1947, I

Ordnance Plant Area Turned Over To Ohio for Industrial School

State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood completed arrangements with federal representatives today for the transfer of a 1,243-acre portion of the huge Scioto Ordnance plant to the state for a training school for delinquents.

Sherwood and welfare department officials conferred with district supervisor of surplus disposal for the federal land bank, C. T. Ballard of Louisville, this morning at the ordnance plant administration building.

2 AMERICANS DIE WITH JEWS

Students Killed While Fighting with Hagana in Holy Land Battles.

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Jan. 19—Jewish sources said today two Americans have been killed in action with the Jewish militia, Hagana, in Palestine since the United Nations voted Nov. 29 to partition the Holy Land.

They said the first was Ari Rabinowitz, student in Haifa Technical college. He was killed three weeks ago in a fight between a Hagana patrol and Arabs of Wadi Rushmiya, Haifa suburb. He was described as an ex-soldier.

The informants said the second was Mosheh A. Pearlstein, 22, of Brooklyn, N. Y. He was identified as one of 35 Jews slain Friday in the Judean hills beyond Bethlehem.

In all, 893 persons have been killed by unofficial count, in Jewish-Arab fighting since the UN recommended that Palestine be split into one nation of Jews and one of Arabs.

Jews today blew up a suburban home at Er Ramle, between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv, on the suspicion that it was an Arab snipers' nest. No casualties were reported.

ASKS PROSECUTION OF HOUSING EXPLOITERS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—Prosecution of get-rich-quick operators who exploit the nation's housing shortage to glean huge profits was urged today by Chairman Flanders (R-Vt) of a senate-house Committee on Housing.

In a 185-page report, the Vermont senator said congress should instruct the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission "to prosecute and police vigorously any persons connected with the housing industry "who engage in practices in restraint of trade."

Flanders told a reporter that information on certain dealers allegedly seeking to corner the nail market already has been turned over to the Federal Trade Commission, and he declared:

"We're scaring a lot of these operators out of the market by this investigation."

"Industry, management and labor, individually or collectively, have conspired to saddle the housing industry with numerous kinds of obstacles that have needlessly and substantially increased housing costs," Flanders said in his report to congress.

The site is expected to be placed in use for a vocational school for youthful offenders possibly by Jan. 1, 1949, Sherwood said.

The 1947 state legislature appropriated $100,000 to enable the welfare department to launch the project which is estimated will reach more than a million dollars when completed. A preliminary estimate of the proposed project made by the welfare department totaled $1,038,000 of which $500,000 was earmarked for rehabilitation of buildings and grounds.

Intermediate School

Mr. Sherwood said the new institution was planned to fill the needed intermediate step between the Lancaster industrial school and the reformatory at Mansfield. It was poinied out that after the Bureau of Juvenile Research and the Boys' Industrial school, there is no corrective institution other than the state reformatory.

The ordnance grounds school wolud be planned to accommodate approximately 600 boys. They would be taught a trade by skilled vocational workers and would be able upon returning to society to more adequately provide themselves a creditable living. Boys adaptable to such training would be sent to the Marion institution.

Estimated personnel at the new institution would run approximately 150, including administrative staff.

A committee will be named by Mr. Sherwood to study and make a report on the newly acquired land before further appropriations will be sought from the state legislature.

Location of Area

The area taken over by the state lies in the southwestern section of the ordnance grounds. It is bounded on the west by the Pennnsylvania railroad, the south by the Marion-Williamsport road, the east by the ordnance plant railroad spur and the north by the Marseilles-Galion road.

Certain installations within the area are being retained by the government. These include a stone quarry, of about 46 acres, a staff residential area of about seven acres and sewage and water pumping installations.

The residential area is being utilized by personnel at the Marion engineer depot on route 30-S and the water and sewage pumping stations serve both the ordnance plant and the depot, the latter still in operation by the government.

Approximately 900 acres of the land has been leased for farming purposes. Seven farms are included in the area. Leases for a one-year period were approved today by Welfare Director Sherwood. They had expired Dec. 31 and had not been renewed pending transfer of the property to the state.

Present at Meeting

Welfare department administrators attending the meeting were Robert Bangham, assistant director, John T. Waidner, chief of business administration, Carl Graves, department of surplus commodity, Thomas McCall, administrative assistant, Herman Geiser, department maintenance engineering chief, Robert Fawcett, chief of auditing department and Col. Harold Hays, superintendent of the Boys' Industrial school.

Representing the government in addition to Mr. Ballard were L. B. Lanham of Louisville, attorney for the federal land bank surplus disposal staff and Tully Fox of Ashland, Scioto Ordnance project manager.

Diesel Electric Engine Production Rises

By The Associated Press

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 19—Diesel-electric locomotives accounted for 85 per cent of the American Locomotive Company's 1947 production, Vice President P. T. Egbert said today.

Ninety-two per cent of the firm's backlog for 1948 is for diesel-electrics, he said. The remaining eight per cent is for steam locomotives for foreign customers.

Diesels accounted for only 23 per cent of the production in 1946.

Relief Promised from Cold That Has Killed 25 in U. S.

Marion and the rest of the nation were promised some relief from the zero weather which has blanketed the country for the last few days, with a forecast of "cloudy and not so cold tonight and Tuesday." Light snow is predicted with the rise in temperature. The cold wave has claimed at least 25 lives in the nation.

The emergency affecting all customers announced Saturday by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. was partially lifted this morning when the company announced release of more gas to commercial consumers such as restaurants, dry-cleaners and similar businesses. "We are asking them to go slow, however, and not use any more than is absolutely necessary," Charles E. Sechrist, manager of the local office said today. "The emergency still is in force so far as big industry is concerned," he added.

The fact that weeks of winter weather lie ahead and we do not know what kind of weather we are facing was given by Mr. Sechrist as the reason for asking the cooperation of consumers in conserving the supply. "What we can save now will help out immeasurably later on," he says. The condition here, as well as elsewhere, still is critical, reports state.

The temperature at 8 a. m. today was 10 above zero and yesterday's record showed a high of 14 above and a low of one below zero last night. A year ago the thermometer stood at 41 high and a low of 15.

Fires Take Toll

Fires, always the companion of bitter cold, continued to kill people and drive others from their homes. In dayton three Negroes died as fire swept a laundry building which had been converted into a 25-apartment house, and four others were injured critically either by flames or in their efforts to escape, an Associated Press dispatch reported.

The dead were Nettie Hart, 38, Hattie Smith, 42, and Randolph Cutler, 40. The injured were Paul, 48, and Harriet Cole, 47, J. D. Burks, 31, and Hester H. Jones, 30.

More than 40 persons were driven from their beds in a downtown Cleveland business and rooming house block shortly before dawn Sunday in that city's third major fire in five days.

Cincinnati reported at least 19 persons driven from their homes in a series of minor fires.

The state forecast was for rising temperature, although nothing was said about a general thaw.

Many Roads Slippery

The state highway department reported roads in the northeastern section snow or frost covered and slippery in many spots.

GOP WEIGHS CHANCES OF IKE, M'ARTHUR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—Two generals who weren't there—Dwight D. Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur—figured prominently in presidential speculation as the Republican National Committee met today to issue a formal call for the party's June nominating convention in Philadelphia.

Neither MacArthur nor Eisenhower was represented even unofficially, as were other actual and potential candidates. But there was much discussion of their chances if a convention stalemate arises between such announced aspirants as Gov Thomas E. Dewey of New York Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

Several national committee members, representing the regular party organization, made it plain in informal discussions with their colleagues that they want Eisenhower's views on national and world issues in detail before they would be willing to consider him as a candidate.

There was some of the same feeling about MacArthur.

In this vein Senator Morse (Ore) told a reporter he thinks Senator Tobey (NH), who is sponsoring an Eisenhower slate of delegates in New Hampshire would be doing the party a service if he would find just how the general stands on domestic issues.

He attended the annual Alfalfa club dinner here Saturday night.

WORLD TRADE SEEN AS BOON TO FARMERS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson today described this country's efforts in boom world trade as the "strongest single indication" that farmers will not have to return to restrictive production practices.

An expanding market abroad for farm surpluses will be possible, he said, if success meets this country' goal of greater and greater world commerce.

In his annual report to President Truman, the cabinet officer said many farmers fear that their present period of record prosperity will be followed by a major depression when the current world food shortage ends.

Much of this fear is based, he said, on their memory of the farm depression that followed World War I after this country decided to "withdraw from the world economy," Anderson added:

"I believe that if we continue in our present course, which keeps us in rather close touch with the world economy, we shall find it easier to avoid a major depression, and consequently avoid agricultural programs of the type we found essential in the 1930's."

PROGRAM FOR PEACE DRAWN UP BY BARUCH

Food Price "Rollback" and 2-Year Wage Raise, Pay-Cut Holiday Proposed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—Bernard M. Baruch laid before senators today an 11-point program for peace-waging, including a "rollback" in food prices, no wage raises and no tax cuts for two years.

Baruch was a witness before the senate foreign relations committee on the Marshall plan for multi-billion dollar aid to Europe. He endorsed it, but told the senators:

"Dollars alone will not save Europe nor win the peace."

Baruch then proposed his domestic program, saying "the time has come to organize—to mobilize—for peace. It can not be put off safely any longer. The time for courage and decision is here."

"Mobilization" Formula

These are the major things he proposed in that "mobilization":

▶Reduce major food prices "in exchange for guaranteeing farmers an assured price for their crops for the next three years."

▶Stabilize wages in return for this rollback.

▶Restore the excess profits tax at 50 per cent of wartime levels.

▶Continue rent control "with provision only for clearly justifiable increases."

▶Postpone tax reduction for two years and then cut levies gradually over a five-year period.

▶Put off all less essential state and federal public works, giving priority to "increasing production, housing, schools, hospitals and other essential needs."

▶Set up a capital issues commission to review all public and private projects "with a view to deferring less essential projects."

▶Establish a congressional "digging committee" which would cut government costs.

▶Increase production.

Baruch, an adviser to presidents in two World Wars, said the situation "requires a bold, resolute, concerted attack against the clawing fears of inflation and another war."

His tax and farm price rollback proposals were only subheads for an anti-inflation point of his general program.

His 11-Point Program

The broader program embraced:

"1. The United States stands ready to buy all non-perishable raw materials produced anywhere and by any one in the world for the next five years, and which can not find normal commercial markets. * * *

"2. Extend the President's present tariff authority for the next three years.

"3. That the countries of Europe — as many as are willing—band themselves into a political, economic and defense union under the United Nations. This would include the lowering of trade barriers among them.

"4. That the United States, and such others as will join us, mutually guarantee the nations entering this union against aggression. By guarantee I mean a firm promise to go to war in joint defense if any of them be attacked.

"5. That the European nations organize to liberate and use every productive resource of the continent. * * *

"6. Stabilize all European currencies and establish realistic rates of exchange.

"7. A two-year peace production drive in this country—to work for peace as we worked for war—where feasible, with longer hours and overtime: where not, to smash production bottlenecks.

"8. As part of this work-for-peace drive, an across-the-nation anti-inflation program. * * *

"9. Settle realistically all prewar and wartime intergovernment debts. * * *

10. The British and others to retain their empire preferences for three years.

"11. A general staff for peace to develop an over-all, global strategy for America's peacemaking."

Prediction on Results

Baruch told the committee:

"These measures, put into effect promptly, can boost production sufficiently to cover the whole Marshall plan and still break the present inflationary

WEST CENTER SHOP HELD UP

Owner Reports Being Robbed of $126 at Gunpoint by Two Men.

Sam Kerns of 522 West Center street, owner and operator of a gun shop at that address, was held up and robbed of $126 at approximately 9:50 Saturday night, police said today.

Mr. Kerns told police two men came into his shop and were watching him work at gun repairs when suddenly one of the men pulled a gun on him and the other took his billfold. The bandits took the money and handed the empty billfold back, Mr. Kerns said. They then told him to stand where he was while they fled out the front door.

Mr. Kerns said he then called the police. No trace has been found of the hold up pair.

Mr. Kerns described the men as being about 30 years old, and of medium build. One was wearing a dark overcoat and brown hat, and the other wore Army O. D. trousers, a tan jacket and a dark cap, Mr. Kerns reported to police.

TEN APPLICANTS PASS FIREMEN TEST

Exams Graded by Civil Service Commission Saturday.

Papers of applicants who took the civil service examination for fireman were graded and an organization meeting was held by the civil service commission Saturday night at the office of the Veterans administration.

Ten applicants, who took an examination to provide an eligibility list for appointments as firemen, last Thursday night at Harding High school, all had passing grades, James E. Messenger, a member of the commission, reported today. Mr. Messenger was reelected chairman and Mrs. Madeline Geissler was reappointed secretary to the commission during the business session. Other members of the commission are William Simmons and Robert W. Brown.

While there are no vacancies in the city's fire department at present, a list of eligible appointees is necessary. An examination for an eligibility list for appointments on the police department will be held in February, Mr. Messenger said. A law passed at the last session of the state legislature designates the age limit for firemen at 21 to 29 and for the police department 23 to 28 years.

RUSSIA EXPECTED TO DENOUNCE "BIZONIA"

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Jan. 19—Russia is expected to soundoff sharply against the new British-American bizonal occupation setup in western Germany when the Allied Control Council meets tomorrow, but officials of the two western powers predicted an outright break with the Soviet Union would be averted.

These officials and Germans themselves wondered, however, whether the Russian occupation commander, Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky, would demand that the U.S., Britain and France pull out of Berlin, on the ground that the new bizonal set up nullifies four-power agreements for control of Germany.

The council has not met since the London conference of foreign ministers broke up. Subsequently the U.S. and Britain established their new joint governmental set up in western Germany, giving Germans more power in the government of the economically merged zones.

4-ROOM HOME NORTH OF CITY TRAGEDY SCENE

Infant and Man Meet Death as Flash Fire Follows Kerosene Blast.

Two persons are dead and three are in City hospital receiving treatment for injuries as the result of an explosion and flash fire which followed an attempt to start a fire in a coal stove with kerosene Saturday.

The accident occurred at 4:30 Saturday afternoon at the four-room Aldrich home on Selma street in Bellaire Gardens, just off route 23 at the north corporation line.

The dead: George Aldrich, 41, telephone lineman, and Danny Dale Fraley, age four months.

The injured: Clara Mae Fraley, 18, mother of Danny Dale; Beulah Laird, mother of Clara Mae, and Mrs. Betty Aldrich, 20, wife of George Aldrich.

George Aldrich died at 1:30 a. m. Sunday at City hospital. Danny Dale Fraley lived only 30 minutes after his arrival at the hospital and died at 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Beulah Laird, is in City hospital where her condition was reported this morning as serious. Mrs. Clara Mae Fraley, and Mrs. Betty Aldrich are also in City hospital. The condition of each is described as fair.

Two eyewitnesses saw the accident. Steve Hecker, 43, who lives across the street from the Aldrich home, saw the explosion from his back yard. "It wasn't a very loud noise, just sort of a puff," said Mr. Hecker. "Then smoke began to pour out under the eaves of the house so that it looked like the roof was raised."

"It blew the dining room window out, too," Mr. Hecker said.

Hastens to Scene

Upon seeing the explosion he rushed to the Aldrich house and entered by the back door to the dining room where the explosion occurred. He found George Aldrich in the middle of the room fighting the fire. The curtains and wall paper were burning. Smoke obscured the view down to four feet from the floor. Aldrich's clothes had been blown off from the waist down and his shoes were also blown off.

On seeing Hecker enter Aldrich cried, "Steve! my God help me." Hecker told Aldrich to get out of the house and he and the other neighbors would take over.

Aldrich replied, "We've got to put this fire out." Hecker finally persuaded him to leave the house.

At this juncture, a Mr. Kessel, another neighbor, entered. Kessel and Hecker grabbed buckets and carrying water from the well, extinguished most of the fire.

Baby Blown to Floor

The force of the explosion was so great that Danny Dale Fraley, who was lying in his baby buggy by the stove, was blown from the buggy to the floor. The baby buggy was aflame. Hecker removed the baby and he and Kessel kicked the buggy out the back door.

The story of the explosion reconstructed from statements of the injured and from eyewitness accounts is this:

Mrs. Betty Aldrich had just completed her washing in the kitchen in the rear of the home and was hanging it out to dry. Her husband, George Aldrich, came home from work, bringing her a new dress. Aldrich noticed the house felt cold and sent his son George Jr., 16, to get a five-gallon can of kerosene from the shed to the rear of the house. While George Jr. was gone for the oil his father laid kindling in the fire box of the coal heating stove, which contained some smoldering coals. Mrs. Aldrich had gone into the front bedroom to try on her new dress.

Son Leaves House

George Junior returned to the house, gave the kerosene to his father, grabbed his air rifle and walked out the door. Just then Mrs. Beulah Laird, sister-in-law of George Aldrich, arrived at the house with her daughter and grandchild.

Flame Streaks Through House

Aldrich admitted them to the house, they placed the baby by the stove to get warm and Aldrich continued with his fire building. He poured the kerosene on the kindling from the spout of the five-gallon can and the explosion occurred, sending a sheet of flame through the entire room and into the bed room where Mrs. Aldrich was dressing. The explosion was of such force that it blew the bottom from the kerosene can although the lid remained intact.

Mrs. Florence Miley, next door neighbor who saw the explosion from her kitchen window and was talking to George Aldrich Jr. at the time, said the explosion was of such force, "It looked as if the roof raised right off the house."

As soon as the fire was under

Sheriff's Report Shows 863 Persons Jailed Here in 1947

The annual report of the Marion county Sheriff LeRoy Retterer for the year 1947 has just been completed by Mrs. Mabel Fletcher, sheriff's office clerk.

A total of 863 persons were committed to the county jail in 1947 as compared with 893 for 1946. Of this number 796 were men, and 67 women. During 1946 827 men were lodged in the county jail while 66 women were incarcerated.

The most persistant offender in the county was committed to jail 14 different times during the year and is serving a sentence at the present time.

Even though there were 30 fewer prisoners lodged in the jail during last year than in 1946, the sheriff's office served only two less meals last year. Meals served for 1947 tallied 17,983 compared with 17,985 for 1946. The sheriff is allotted 33 1/3 cents a meal to feed county prisoners.

During the year the sheriff made 21 trips to the Columbus state hospital, 23 trips to the workhouse at Columbus, 6 trips to the Mansfield reformatory, and 6 trips to Ohio penitentiary.

The sheriff's office served a total of 2,059 papers during the year. Of this number 675 were subpeonas. Divorce actions in the county required the service of 375 papers. Other papers included in the total were: writs of partition, summons, warrants, notices, motions, citations, and mechanics liens.

A total of $24,486.47 was collected by the sheriff by the on orders of sale issued by common pleas court. Foreclosures for taxes netted $2,637.50.

Marion municipal court was paid $6,549.90 by Sheriff Retterer for fines paid at the county jail.

Butter production in the United States in 1945 (1,685,000,000 pounds) was the lowest since 1920.

40 HOMELESS IN FIRE AT CLEVELAND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 19 — Forty persons were homeless today following a $225,000 fire which swept a row of business houses and apartments in downtown Cleveland early yesterday.

The blaze, the city's third major fire in five days, drove an estimated 100 residents into near zero cold in night clothing.

Forty refugees who escaped with only the clothing they wore were taken in charge by the disaster unit of the Greater Cleveland chapter of the American Red Cross. A number of them fled barefoot into the snowy street where the temperature registered 5 above zero.

Firemen were hampered by ice, frozen hydrants and water that turned into huge icicles almost as soon as it hit the building. Twenty-two fire companies and units fought the blaze from shortly after 4 a. m. until midafternoon.

Fire Capt. Harry L. Manning slipped and fell on the ice and was treated at City hospital for a possible fractured rib.

Firemen narrowly escaped injury or death when a section of cornice fell on the sidewalk soon after the fire started. The concrete and bricks dropped among 10 companies playing streams into the building.

The Elliott Electric Co. was destroyed by a $250,000 fire Wednesday and two firemen lost their lives when a brick wall collapsed on them while they were fighting a $200,000 fire at a winery in the same area Friday.

Columbus Veteran And Former "Miss Paris" Wed

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jn. 19—"Miss Paris of 1947" and her Yank soldier sweetheart, former Pfc. Ray Mack of Columbus, honeymooned today at an undisclosed spot.

The 24-year-old brunette, Miss Pierette Catherine Frouen (Kay) Trevil, and Mack were married yesterday at the First Congregational church here. The nuptials culminated a two-year-old romance, which began in Heidelberg, Germany, when Mack managed a U. S. Army club, the Parisian beauty sang there with a troupe appearing before American soldiers.

The couple planned a "short trip of two or three days" before returning to Columbus to complete details for an entertainment tour, which Mack said, would be undertaken to raise funds for disabled war veterans.

Mack, credit manager for a local clothing store, and his bride hope to reassemble the cast of the show that appeared in Heidelberg. They have announced $100,000 as the amount they hope to turn over to veterans' hospitals.

met her by arrangement at a beer joint on the West Side of Marion.

"We got in my car and drove up the street, bought some beer and went for a ride. We stopped several time and drank beer. Then we drove to a beer joint in Delaware, O., just Zora and I.

"We drank beer and wine and whisky. When they closed the place about one we started for Marion north on route 23 and caught route 98 at Waldo. We stopped at what I thought was a school house * * * * *. I lost my head when she told me that in a few weeks I would have a bad time because she was "burned up" * * * * *

"We walked around the car, and if I remember right, we drank the last bottle of beer. That was when I decided to kill her because she had given me the disease.

"The rope was in the car and I went and got it. The rope had a slip knot in it as I had been using it to move some stuff. I placed it around her neck and strangled her. She fell down and I then tied her up.

"In about 15 or 20 minutes two men came in an auto and they talked to me about what I was doing there. They asked me what that woman was doing on the ground. He asked me, "is she dead or is she alive" and I said, "well if she ain't dead she ought to be as she has been there 5 or 15 minutes." Something like that.

"I told him that there was my license number on the car and asked him what he was going to do about it. They said they were going to go for help. I started to get in their car and they told me to wait there until they got help. I waited several minutes, maybe five minutes, and then I decided I had better take off. I went to Bucyrus, O., and started west from there the same day. This was on July 11, 1947.

"I traveled through Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. At a town in Missouri I heard a fellow reading the newspaper about a murder at Marion, O. I had a good idea that it was me they were reading about.

"I went on through to Durango, Colo., and then returned to Springfield, Colo., working there in the wheat. Then I went to Coolidge, Kans., where I worked through the harvest season and after that I took a trip to Washington state.

All this time I was driving my 1933 Chevrolet coupe with license Q-4846. This was a blue coupe with red wire wheels.

"About a week before Christmas after I had moved to Holly I tore up all of my papers and car title.

"All the time in Colorado and Kansas I went by the name of Roy Edwards. About the first of December I met Geneva Martin at Holly, Colo., and we were married on Christmas day at Raton, N. Mex. On this trip we used her car license on my car.

"I have been treated nice by all of the officers in this matter and I have not been promised anything to make this statement. And I know that this statement can be used against me when I go to trial. I just want to get it over with. I have read the foregoing statement and it is true.

cycle almost immediately, cancel part of the national debt, while laying the groundwork for orderly tax reduction in the future."

Baruch sided with President Truman in the dispute which is developing between the administration and some Republican congressional leaders over how the Marshall aid program should be administered.

He said congress should give "full operating powers to a single, competent administrator" who would be subject to the President and secretary of state on matters affecting foreign policy. This is the administration plan.

Some Republicans have suggested an agency, directed by a eight-member board, to handle the program.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has suggested creation of a new cabinet post to handle it.

Warns Against Party Division

At the same time, but without referring to Taft's proposal, Senator Reed (Kas) called upon his Republican colleagues to avoid a foreign aid controversy that might "break the party in two."

Taft, in voicing his suggestion for a new cabinet post, did not dispute Marshall in his declaration that "there can not be two secretaries of state."

"I am fully conscious," the chairman of the senate's Republican policy committee declared in a radio broadcast yesterday, "that as far as foreign policy is concerned, it (the Marshall plan) must be absolutely coordinated with the state department.

"But economic administration is another thing," the Ohioan continued, "and if one is to find an administrator of a caliber who can do it and if he is to have the powers by which he can do it, he must be of cabinet rank."

KILLED ON FUNERAL TRIP

By The Associated Press

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 19 — Mrs. Eunice Rustin, 21, of Oberlin, O., who was en route home from her grandmother's funeral, died yesterday of injuries suffered in a Saturday traffic accident. Her daughter, Edith, nine months, was critically injured and her brother, Rev. Paul Whalen, of Cincinnati, was seriously hurt. They were en route home from Liberal, Kan.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19—Mrs. Ruby Demarest, 55, died early today of injuries suffered Saturday night in a three-car collision.

BLAST, FIRE

extinguished by Kessel and Hecker, rescue operations commenced. Neighbors summoned firemen, and an ambulance was called. Upon arrival of the ambulance George Aldrich, though in great pain, walked toward the ambulance. Between the house and the ambulance he met a neighbor, Mrs. Martha O'Donnell.

Told Son Was Safe

Aldrich spoke to Mrs. O'Donnell, "Is that you Martha?" Mrs. O'Donnell answered, "yes."

"Where is Junior?" asked Aldrich. When assured by Mrs. O'Donnell of his son's safety Aldrich said, "Thank God for that, take care of Junior until I get back."

Shortly after the removal of George Aldrich, his wife Betty, Mrs. Fraley, Mrs. Laird, and the infant Danny Dale were removed to the Hecker home to await transportation to the hospital. Mrs. Laird walked the distance from the scene of the blaze to the Hecker home in her bare feet, all her clothes from the waist down and her shoes having been blown off, leaving a trail of blood in the snow which is still visible.

Mrs. Laird, Mrs. Aldrich, and Mrs. Fraley were removed on arrival of an ambulance to City hospital while Danny Dale was rushed on ahead by an unidentified motorist who arrived on the scene shortly after the explosion.

Probable Cause

Firemen attribute the blaze and explosion to igniting of kerosene fumes from embers in the stove, for despite the blast and flames the wood in the stove is only charred on top and still unburned on the lower side.

The Aldrich home is a four-room, one-story frame house. The explosion's force blew the glass from the dining room window. Heat from the blaze caused other windows in the building to crack and fall out. Furniture, even in the room where the explosion occurred, was not seriously damaged.

This brings the toll of deaths from stove accidents in and near Marion to three this month while four persons are hospitalized from injuries from this cause.

George Allen Aldrich was born Sept. 9, 1906, in Salt Rock township near Meeker, a son of John and Jenny Belle Carr Aldrich. He served as a corporal in the 9th Photo reconnaissance squadron U. of the army, entering service March 15, 1943, and receiving his discharge Oct. 20, 1945. He saw duty in the China-Burma-India theater of war. For 20 years he was an employe of the Associated Telephone Co. as lineman. He became a member of the Masonic lodge at Calcutta, India.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs Betty Ryan Aldrich, whom he married Sept. 5, 1947, his father and stepmother, who live at 462 Bartram avenue, a son by a former marriage, George Thomas Aldrich at home, and a brother and two sisters, Pearl Aldrich of 473 Bartram avenue, Mrs. Mary Maidlow of 557 Henry street and Mrs Nellie Williams of Galion.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals on East Center street by Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

Danny Dale Fraley was born Sept. 21, 1947, in Marion, a son of Charles and Clara Mae Aldrich Fraley, the father a native of Moreland, Ky., and the mother of Marion.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. in the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

Three Perish in Fire, 4 Critically Burned

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Jan. 19—Three persons were dead today and four others in critical condition following a fire last night which gutted a two-story brick and frame building, converted from a laundry into a 25-family apartment.

Three of the four in grave condition suffered severe burns. The dead: Nettie Hart, 38, Hattie Smith, 42, and Randolph Cutler, 40.

Firemen reported preliminary investigation indicated an overheated gas stove caused the three-hour fire.

The annual erosion losses in the United States have been estimated at $400 million.

Operators Consider Law Banning Beauty Treatment at Home

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 19—Delegates attending the Ohio Cosmetologists association convention will decide today on a proposal for a state law prohibiting women from giving their families and friends a manicure, hairdo or shampoo except in a registered beauty shop.

Many of the more than 3,000 members registered expressed approval of the legislation in discussions yesterday, while others opposed it, asserting it would be an impractical law and that the public could be educated to avoid improper and often dangerous home care and learn to depend upon licensed experts. A law of this nature already is effective in Florida.

Physicians, registered nurses and beauty operators in hospitals and institutions would be exempt if the law were passed in this state, association officials said.

The sensation of the first day was a presentation of the new trend in hairdos, which was said to be the first radical change in many years.

The 1948 hairdo, demonstrated on the convention's Miss Ohio, Helen Burant of Cleveland, was much shorter to meet the silhouette look with longer dresses and emphasizes a "studied irregularity," according to Thomas Frank, Chicago stylist, featured at the meeting.

MARSHALL SETTLES QUESTION. Photographers focus cameras on Secretary of State George Marshall as he ponders question "would you run with Truman" asked by reporter at Pittsburgh, Pa., press conference. GANDHI ENDS FAST ON PEACE PLEDGE

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, INDIA, Jan. 19—Mohandas K. Gandhi's hope of harmony in India lay today in the solemn pledge by religious leaders which ended his peace fast after 121 hours and 45 minutes.

The Indian patriot and Hindu spiritual leader drank sweet lime juice at 12:45 p. m. (2:15 a. m., eastern standard time) yesterday. It was his first nourishment since 11 a. m. Tuesday, when he began the fast, his fifteenth.

Last night, five hours after breaking his fast, the 78-year-old Gandhi told a big prayer meeting he did so on the "pledge and counsel" of friends from Hindu-led India and Moslem-led Pakistan.

They guaranteed, he said, "complete, unbroken friendship" among Hindus, Moslems and Sikhs. Gandhi said fulfillment of this pledge would double "my intense wish to live a full span of life doing service to humanity * * * at least 125 years, or as some say, 133 years."

His reference was to a resolution, signed a few hours before he ended his ordeal, in which communal leaders pledged their lives as an earnest of peace.

They adopted his seven-point program for social acceptance and safety of lives and property of Moslems in India. They set up a committee of 130, of all religions, to meet nightly for a review of progress toward these ends.

In line with Gandhi's campaign, the Indian government last night granted freedom or pardons to all Pakistan soldiers accused or convicted of criminal acts between Dominion day and Jan. 10.

Her Heart Stops, But She Lives To Laugh

By The Associated Press

TOWANDA, Pa., Jan. 19—A 60-year-old woman whose pulse and breathing stopped for at least six minutes while she lay on an operating table in a Binghamton, N. Y., hospital laughed off the experience today and made plans for another try at her postponed surgery.

Mrs. Mary Verbeck had received an anaesthetic, her son Kenneth recounted, and Dr. Herman Snow was ready to begin an abdominal operation when a nurse discovered Mrs. Verbeck's pulse and breathing had stopped. Dr. Snow confirmed the report, then sent an emergency call for an iron lung.

Six minutes later the lung reached the operating room and Mrs. Verbeck was placed inside; within 30 minutes her heart and lungs were functioning normally and she was removed from the machine.

"Mother laughed when Dr. Snow said her name would be in all the papers," Kenneth reported. He added his mother planned to return to the hospital Saturday.

Mrs. Roosevelt Listed In Truman Campaign

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 19—The Democratic high command has asked Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to campaign for President Truman's election next November and has received assurances of her willingness to cooperate.

Confirming this, Chairman J. Howard McGrath told a reporter he also expects James A. Farley, who broke with the late President Roosevelt in 1940 over the third term issue, to become active again during the campaign.

The national committee has no expectation that Mrs. Roosevelt will stump the country, but plans to ask her to take "a dignified part" in the drive to return Mr. Truman to the white house, McGrath said.

STEEL OUTPUT REPORTED HIGH, BUT NOT ENOUGH

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 19 — Although steel production now is at its highest rate in several years, there has been no improvement in balancing supply and demand, the magazine Steel reported today.

In its weekly summary of developments in the metalworking industry, the publication said some major products actually were becoming scarcer.

"The situation in sheet and strip, tubular products and plates is particularly acute, with hot carbon bars and shapes at least as scarce as ever," Steel said.

The magazine pointed out that steelmaking capacity now is nearly three million tons greater than a year ago, with substantial increases in blast furnace, coke oven and finishing capacity.

Producers, however, are finding it difficult to increase operations because of a shrotage of pig iron, scrap, fuel oil, coke and the shrinkage in natural gas supplies resulting from weather conditions, Steel asserted.

COLD

said subzero readings were somewhat general in the New England states and that the mercury again skidded to well below freezing as far south as southern Florida. The coldest spot on the early weather map was 26 below zero at Phillipsburg, in western Pennsylvania.

As President Truman's order restricting use of heating and motor fuels went into effect, 12 central and southeastern states reported 25 deaths attributed to the bitter cold. Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and Kentucky reported four deaths each; Illinois 3; Minnesota and Wisconsin 2 each; and North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Missouri and Mississippi one each.

President Truman's order directing that federal buildings using oil for fuel be limited to 68 degree heating, and that government cars be limited to 40 miles an hour to conserve gasoline. Many areas curtailed use of oil and gas for industrial purposes in a move to stretch dwindling supplies for heating purposes.

BUTTER PRICE UP AGAIN

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Jan 19 — The wholesale price of butter increased two cents a pound today, erasing all but two cents of the 10-cent drop which followed an all-time high of 92 cents the first few days of the new year. The increase was passed on to the consumer, with the dairy wagon delivered price for sweet butter being 89 cents a pound and 96 for salt butter. Some delicatessen stores asked $1.02 a pound or more.

Rabbinical student, reported by the Jewish agency to be the second U. S. citizen killed in the Holy Land partition battle, says they hope he did not "die in vain."

Mosheh Avigdor Pearlstein wrote home recently that he had volunteered for guard duty in Palestine in his spare time while continuing his studies.

Yesterday, his parents and sisters received the report of his death.

His mother, Mrs. Ella Pearlstein, bitter about the conflict in the Holy Land and the role of the British, said last night in a statement: "If people in this country will be made to realize what is happening in Palestine, he will not have died in vain."

83 Ohioans Listed In Egg Speculation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 — Eighty-three Ohioans were speculating in eggs on the Chicago mercantile exchange on July 31, 1946, the department of agriculture announced over the weekend.

The traders included (with the number of carlots each held): Harvey L. Geach, Lima, one; James M. Slattery, Mansfield, 12; Clyde C. Rowe, Mansfield, one, and Homer E. Tremaine, Lima, one.

All in the above list held their accounts with long positions, anticipating a rise in prices. One carlot of eggs is equivalent to 18,000 dozen.

The honored guest, college of regent members and visiting senior regents were introduced by Mrs. Mabel Barr, college of regent chairman of Marion. Each was presented a corsage.

Sound Color Picture Scheduled at Calvary Church.

A sound-color moving picture film, "God of the Atom," bringing a "new approach to the atom bomb problem," is scheduled to be shown at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church Friday at 8 p. m. The picture was produced by Dr. Irwin A. Moon, director of Moody Institute of Science in Los Angeles Calif., originator of "Sermons from Science." In the film, "actual shots of the Nagasaki and Bikini explosions are featured, as well as "the only fullcolor moving pictures ever taken of the giant 184-inch cyclotron at the University of California."

In his role as narrator for the picture, Dr. Moon has said, "Our trouble in the world has never been due to the fact that we've had swords, or guns, or gunpowder, or tanks, or airplanes, or even atomic bombs. Take all these things from the world, and men will beat each other to death with their bare fists! The problem is not what man has, but what man is."

Larry Johnston, a young physicist who aided in atomic development at Los Alamos and photographed all three wartime bombs as they exploded, also appears in the film with an eyewitness account of his experiences, it was stated. "God of the Atom" is second in a series of religious-scientific films produced in laboratories of Moody Institute of Science, a branch of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, Ill. The film will be shown here by Rev. A. D. Telder, Moody film representative.

Infant Ailment Requiring Prompt Treatment

...rrhea, with vomit-... means that the body ...e percentage of fluid ... certain water-soluble ... which are important to ... function. Since new-born ... withstand such losses much ... well than an older child or ... diarrhea in them is ... be very serious and ... must be prompt and ef-... shock or collapse is to ... prevented. Loss of fluid and ... materials, particularly po-tassium salts, from the tissue cells and blood serum must be made good as quickly as possible.

This is usually done by the injection of either whole blood or plasma (the fluid part of the blood) into a vein.

In addition, the lost potassium salts are restored by injections of proper solutions of these salts given into a vein.

Food should be withheld until the fever is gone and the stools are no longer watery. However, the infant must be given a quantity of water. After partial recovery has occurred, the mixture of salts and glucose may be given by mouth. When the general condition has improved sufficiently, a milk mixture may be employed.

Of course, breast milk is the best food to use. If it is not available, skim milk or buttermilk may be used. The amount of food is gradually increased. If the symptoms recur, the food is withdrawn and, in a day or two, started again in smaller amounts.

In cases of mild diarrhea, without vomiting, milk is usually not withheld any longer than from 12 to 24 hours, and the fluids can be given by mouth instead of by injection.

Such things as the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin, apparently are not of great value in most of the diarrhea infections in babies. However, it must be remembered that these diarrheas may be produced by various types of germs. For example, if the condition is caused by the dysentery bacillus, treatment with the sulfonamide drugs may shorten the course of the infection.

If the diarrhea has continued for some time and starvation has been prolonged, amino acids may be given by injection. Amino acids are the substances from which proteins are made.

It should be borne in mind that a baby with diarrhea is a sick baby, often very sick indeed. The condition progresses from bad to worse so rapidly in these little ones that no time should be lost in getting them under the care of a physician so that proper treatment may be begun at once.

Galion School Board Calls Special Meeting

GALION—A special meeting of the Galion Board of Education will be held Tuesday night to consider applications for the position of superintendent of schools, it decided at a meeting of the board, Friday night. The board accepted the resignation of M. A. Povenmire who has taken a position as principal of Lakewood High school, Lakewood, O.

Mr. Povenmire leaves for his new position on Feb. 15, and between now and then he will divide his time between the Galion and Lakewood schools. Some of the time, Friday night, was spent in discussing procedure to be taken in securing a successor to Povenmire.

The board, hired two janitors, Ralph Nelson of Railroad street, and Barney Prosser of Erie street. The clerk, Miss Isabel Monroe, was authorized to ask for an advance draw of funds from the county auditor. Because the schools have not yet received money from the Foundation program, Miss Monroe also was authorized to borrow money to meet current expenses.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

WASHINGTON

BOTH America and the White House—home of its presidents—were born in quarrel and grew in controversy.

The story of the battles from which the United States emerged are taught to every schoolboy. Less well known is the slugging that has surrounded every change made in the White House—now brought again into the news by President Truman's proposal to tack a $15,000 back porch on the old dwelling.

Hal Boyle

The arguments began before the building was erected. There were objections that the site was swampy and unsanitary. Those in favor said the opponents merely wanted to locate it elsewhere to improve the value of their own real estate.

Other quibbles were made that it was too lavish — yet several White House ladies later thought it old-fashioned and undesirable and wanted to shift to other quarters.

All that is left of Major Hoban's original building are the foundation and part of the walls. In 1814 when some visiting Englishmen thoughtlessly set it aflame—no fire insurance either in those days—it had already cost $333,207. By 1840 the rebuilt edifice had set the taxpayers back another $301,496.

WELL, THEY GOT their money's worth, although some folks didn't think so at the time. The plumbing was so bad that the deaths of two presidents and several lady members of their families have been attributed it it. But despite the germs, the hospitality before the Civil war was usually wide open.

Andy Jackson—there was a man who knew how to throw a party! He made it the voter's joint. The door was closed to no one, and at official soirees the common people rushed in uninvited and chased the servants around to grab refreshments.

Two uninhibited gals once had themselves lifted up to the chimney mantle and sat there, skirts aswinging, to the disgust of genteel guests.

Jackson got $25,000 a year but spent $10,000 of his own money for entertainment during his two terms. And when he left, Andy didn't have enough money to pay his traveling expenses home.

EARLIER, Thomas Jefferson who never let his guests stand on rank, spent $8,500 for drinks on the house during his first term, but cut it down to $1,800 in his second four years—and still died broke. The life was so tough that he took 796 days off during his two terms for long visits to Monticello.

Things quieted down in the White House after Jackson and in time it became impolite to discard chewing tobacco on the floor. Today Gen. U. S. Grant would find it pretty sissy. They don't even have cuspidors there now—and if you miss an ashtray the secret service guards glare at you as if you were a Communist.

Each succeeding president remodeled the house despite complaints from the opposition—spending from $12,500 to $50,000 each year between 1871 and 1902.

THEN IN 1901 Teddy Roosevelt—incidentally the first president officially to designate the building as "The White House"—spent $85,196 to build executive offices and a whopping $475,445 to modernize and reconstruct the old mansion along its original lines.

"The White House is the property of the nation," he said, "and so far as it is compatible with living therein should be kept as it originally was."

A lary historian wrote hopefully:

"The vexed question of an appropriate home for the president of the United States is, in all probability, settled forever."

That's what she thought. The changes kept going on—and probably always will. The darned place probably still doesn't have a jukebox.

Help Conquer This Enemy

GOOD NEWS for Marion county is coming from local headquarters of the annual March of Dimes campaign. It indicates that people here are responding generously to the appeal for contributions to the great work of fighting infantile paralysis and that before the close of the campaign the total will reach an amount which will be a notable mark of credit to the community.

The need is tremendous and urgent, for records show that during the last five years incidence of this dread disease in the United States has been the highest for any similar period. In that time 80,000 Americans, mostly children, have been stricken.

When it will strike any one community no one can say. It sends no warning. Marion and its neighbor communities have been fortunate in comparison with other localities, for here in recent years there have been only sporadic cases. But that cannot be taken as assurance that we shall continue to escape. The danger is ever present and calls for unceasing vigilance and preparedness. Undoubtedly the most effective means available to provide such insurance and protection is to contribute liberally to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which helps pay the bills that pile up for the families of infantile paralysis patients and sees to it that the best available medical and hospital care is provided. It also carries on an extensive program of research and technical education which is gradually getting results in the hunt for effective methods of prevention and cure of the disease.

Marion county's present March of Dimes campaign is a part of the National Foundation's tenth anniversary drive, being conducted from Jan. 15 to 30, inclusive. If you have given, you have aided a live-saving work of tremendous importance. If you have not sent your contribution, you are urged to do so without further delay. You need to help buy this vitally essential health and life insurance for yourself, your family and your community.

Pay Them What They're Worth

EVEN though it drew an angry blast from the President, the senate armed services committee acted for the best in rejecting the proposal to allow Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter to retain his military status while serving as civil aeronautics board chairman. Gen. Kuter's military pay and allowances total $15,000 a year and he is unwilling to accept the $10,000 CAB chairmanship as a civilian.

The incident can have a beneficial effect if it calls attention to the unsatisfactory pay scales for top government jobs. The fact that the CAB chairman draws less than a regularly-employed airlines pilot points out a situation that is growing more acute in Washington. The $10,000 salary limitation on all but the most important government jobs make it necessary for the President to canvass men with other sources of income or rely on military men to fill important posts. Salaries commensurate with responsibilities would attract plenty of competent men for such assignments.

Hay Makers

A WITNESS before a congressional committee last week made a minor sensation by challenging congress to try to stop his alleged activities in the "gray market." In a word, he asserted that it wasn't a crime in the United States to make hay while the sun is shining.

The witness, of course, is right. It's still legal to make a killing by charging all the traffic will bear. The question is how much the traffic will bear—or rather, how much the traffic should be asked to bear. And that is a question of attitude, not of financial manipulation.

This country is in trouble because too many of its people have decided to make the traffic bear the limit, up to the breaking point. They have been putting their selfish interest ahead of everything else. They have forgotten one thing, the most important thing in a collective responsibility for its welfare and the fact they can be held answerable whenever necessary for their failure to behave in a responsible manner.

Every regulation, every restriction, every rule in the United States came from someone's willingness to behave in an irresponsible manner. There's vastly more to making a good society than making hay while the sun shines.

They Have a Blank Check

THE atomic energy commission's allocation is a budget item no one questions, even though it is substantially increased. For the next fiscal year it will receive $660,000,000, an increase of $214,000,000. It wasn't so many years ago that the entire cost of government was less than that.

While there is no accounting on how this money will be spent, not one treasury watchdog has raised a querulous complaint about extravagance. The reason is that the 2-billion-dollar atomic energy gamble of World War II paid a dividend in the form of a greatly shortened war. Until the nation knows more about atomic energy, the integrity of the men who administer it is the only control on how much the nation will allocate for research.

The Body of the Iceberg

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE new American air transport base at Tripoli is like the small part of an iceberg that appears above the surface of the water. In this case, what is concealed happens to be of vital importance to the United States, and to the world.

The base has been officially described by Secretary of Defence James Forrestal as a mere link "in the trunk line to Athens." It is hard to imagine a more extreme official understatement. In point of fact, the purpose of the base is not primarily to strengthen the line of communications to Greece, but to strengthen American power in the Mediterranean. Its establishment is the outcome of a long and bitter dispute, which has agitated the whole administration, over the best means to counter increasing Soviet pressure upon Greece. And the idea of a base in Tripoli or Cyrenaica was first proposed as an alternative to sending American troops to Greece.

Obviously, a large and fully equipped air transport base can be converted promptly and at will, for use by military aviation. Equally obviously, a Tripoli air base will command the whole eastern Mediterranean. But the essentially strategic intention of this new American step is fully proven, not by mere circumstantial evidence, but by the character of the dispute referred to above.

How It Started

This dispute in Washington was of course started by the all-out effort of the Soviet-sponsored "Greek republican government" to seize a headquarters on Greek soil, at Konitsa. Significantly, no faction within the administration advocated abandoning Greece to her fate. The actual sending of American troops to Greece was strongly advocated by a minority group, chiefly recruited from the state department, whose motto was: "Eventually; why not now?" The majority, strongest in the service departments, opposed sending troops on two grounds: that the commitment would be too direct; and that the deterrent effect of an American base in the Tripoli-Cyrenaica area would be quite as great as the effect of a small American force on Greek soil.

Only the future will disclose which faction was correct. Meanwhile, two further sets of connected facts, also not officially disclosed, are equally deserving of some emphasis.

Some of the less politically minded soldiers objected, in the course of the dispute over Greece, to the whole idea of "deterrents." They argued that the Soviets would not be persuaded to relax pressure on Greece, or otherwise to change their policy, either by troops or bases which were not meant to be used. The clincher of those who hold the theory of "deterrents" was the experience last December in Italy, which involved still another official understatement.

The original withdrawal date for the American occupation force in Italy was Dec. 3, 1947. At the last moment, the withdrawal was temporarily deferred, for the declared reason that certain difficulties of transportation and administration had been encountered. The Communist offensive against the Italian government had been timed to coincide with the retirement of the American forces.

Attack Messed Up

The troops left behind were hardly more than a small band of supply sergeants. Yet the whole tempo of the Communist attack—strikes, propaganda and all—faltered and was thrown out of kilter.

Simultaneously, the Soviet Union hastily and quite unexpectedly complied, for the record, with its treaty promise to evacuate Bulgaria when the Americans and British left Italy. About 100,000 Russian troops were hustled, hugger-mugger, across the border into Romania, and the several scores of thousands left behind were put into fancy dress as simple civilians. Procuring these results was, of course, the real purpose in the delay of our evacuation of Italy. Indeed, the move had been the subject of still another dispute, between the anti-political members of the services who wished to stick to the announced schedule, and the wiser men who saw what considerable profits might be gained by a delay. The wiser men won and the profits were reaped.

Nor is this all. The role of Lieutenant General Curtis E. LeMay in negotiating establishment of the Tripoli base clearly proves what has already been printed in this space but not even now admitted elsewhere. General LeMay's mission in Europe is not merely to command the small American air forces in Germany. He is there to review the whole European strategic situation with the British general staff and others, and to take necessary steps to improve that situation. The Tripoli base is only a first fruit of his labors.

A Key To Industrial Peace

Importance of Employe Relations Now Realized.

AMERICAN industry at long last is learning that a cause of freedom from industrial strife is healthy human relations, according to Clarence Francis, chairman of the board of General Foods Corp.

"Our economic expansion has been marked by disruptions from the days of the anthracite and rail strikes of the 1870's through the sit-downs of the 1930's right on down to the present," he said. "Why has this been so? Basically, I think, because too many employers somehow fell into the grave initial error of treating their labor as a commodity . . . because management and labor leaders became preoccupied with the rules of industrial warfare . . . because we concentrated on the vocabulary of difference—demands, grievances, disputes, prerogatives, rights and all the rest . . . and because, by implication, we accepted the notion that the interests of labor and management are basically opposed."

Employers' Obligations

Mr. Francis said employers must concentrate on giving their workers a sense of security, individual dignity and incentives other than financial. He placed little stress upon wages as such. "Look back over the history over labor relation," he said. "The industries that have been wracked, stymied and disrupted by strikes most often . . . are among those in which the highest wages are paid . . . On the other hand, I happen to know of a company that established two almost identical operations during the war . . . One was in an area where the whole psychology is of militancy and agitation over rights and prerogatives. The other was in a small city off the beaten path where employes were newly recruited to industry with no background of chronic conflict and mutual antagonism. The measured man hour productivity in the second plant exceeded that of the first by 25 per cent!"

Mr. Francis believes that employe attitudes are conditioned, over the long run, by management attitudes. He has found that "you can buy a man's physical presence in a given place. You can even buy a number of skilled muscular motions per hour or day. But you cannot buy enthusiasm, initiative, loyalty, devotion of hearts, minds and souls, you have to earn those things."

Important Factors

Mr. Francis believes the brightest star on the industrial horizon is the rise of education and practice of human relations. He concludes:

"Beyond doubt we live in a questioning age. All over the world people are looking dubiously at established institutions—hopefully at new ones.

"On the negative side we know that we simply cannot afford the consequences of industrial conflict. We cannot allow the terrible danger of class consciousness to weaken our internal structure. We cannot permit the collapse of the world economy. We dare not let hunger and poverty lead millions into communism.

"All true. But, on the positive side, let us consider not what we have to lose but what we have to gain. Why should our policies be dominated by a negative dread of communism instead of a positive confidence in America? As Gardner Cowles said in a recent significant speech: 'No one flees toward Russia.' Communism is a dream. It has never worked and it never, in my opinion, will work. America is the symbol of an active reality which has already accomplished more for human betterment than any system on earth.

Needs of the People

"All the raw materials of a great future are at hand for the American people and for the world. People want leadership. People need hope. They want to hear from us about plans and progress. They want to help us build a better future. They want to be on the team—not just with it. And if we have confidence in our system, in ourselves, and in those who work with us—and if we give the facts—we cannot fail."

See Your Dentist Twice A Day

Dentists should adopt the principles of salesmanship and advertising which have proved successful in other fields, a visiting lecturer recently told the St. Louis Dental Society.

That'll put teeth in our singing commercials.

They may even get a slogan: "Don't buy soup . . . Bi-cuspids."

"We dentists are enjoying prosperity now because people do not have the opportunity to buy automobiles," the molar merchant added. "They have nothing to spend their money on, so they decide they might as well get their teeth fixed. When this period of prosperity ends, all of us will have to resort to salesmanship."

Somehow, it never occurred to me before that, in periods of economic depression, there isn't much outlay for inlays.

Still, since more dentists charge only a few dollars for extractions and make most of their money fitting plates and dentures. I can see how they would suffer in bad times, what with everything coming out and nothing going in.

Daily Bible Thought

Forget about the philosophy of religion and employ the creative power of faith. It has worked miracles in the past and will with you.—I John 5:4: "This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith."

Heated Highways

Radiant heating, a home-heating idea currently winning wide acceptance, is also to be used to heat highways.

A steep highway grade at Klamath Falls, Ore., will be freed from ice and snow, and skidding danger by use of radiant-heated panels. Pipes buried in the pavement will carry hot water when temperatures fall below freezing. Nearby natural hot springs will serve as the heat source.

The Best Insurance Policy

It was Wednesday, Jan. 19, 1938.

In a letter to Rear-Admiral Reginald R. Belknap, President Roosevelt reemphasized America's reliance for military protection on "patriotic citizens called to the colors when our peace and safety are threatened."

Dividends totaling $71,828.70 and amounting to three per cent per year were paid to 3,250 stockholders in the Marion Federal Savings & Loan association in 1937, the officials announced.

A tornado did extensive damage in southern Ohio. One person was killed at Washington C. H.

A. F. Van Deinse, president and general manager of the C., D. & M. He said the traction lines had operated at a loss of $7,896 during the 12-month period ended Nov. 30, 1927.

Marion was asked to contribute to a program of relief for children of unemployed miners in southeastern Ohio. Capt. John W. Mason of D Company, acting under instructions from state headquarters of the Ohio National Guard, posted local guardsmen at the Armory to receive clothing, food and money.

Walter P. Latour was elected president of the Marion Display Men' association.

Key To Marshall Plan Success

By Walter Lippmann

LIPPMAN

IN its presentation of the Marshall plan the administration is in a dilemma which will have to be resolved by bringing it into open discussion. This dilemma is well understood in Europe, above all in Moscow. But here thus far it has not been explained in the public testimony for the plan.

One horn of the dilemma is the belief that congress can be induced to support the plan only if it is presented in terms of the conflict between the western world and the Soviet orbit. The other horn of the dilemma is the fact that the plan itself demands an ever-increasing economic cooperation and is calculated not on the assumption of the division of Europe into the two antagonistic coalitions, but on the reunion of western Europe.

LIPPMANN

That this is the truth can readily be demonstrated. The Paris report, the Harrison report and the state department's own technical studies are agreed that "the revival of the German economy is indispensable."

Gen. Clay, who has the highest responsibility in Germany has just stated in his monthly report that the extent to which western Germany will be able to trade its manufactured products for food from eastern Europe is of "decisive importance" to the indispensable revival of the German economy.

The technical report of the Department of state on western Germany, which has just been released, contains the figures which prove how decisively important is the economic reunion of Europe to this indispensable objective of the Marshall plan. The figures leave no ground whatever for the idea, now current in this country, that western Germany can be made self-supporting; that it can, as this saying goes, be taken off the American taxpayer's back if the iron curtain were to become an impenetrable barrier.

"The bizonal pattern of trade at the end of the recovery plan"—namely, 1952—"is expected," says the state department's study, "to conform to the prewar pattern in essentials, although the scale of trade and its direction and constituent items will almost certainly be substantially changed.

Dealings One-Sided

The figures are even more eloquent than this reticent observation. In the coming fiscal year (1948-49) bizonal Germany will draw from the Western Hemisphere nearly seven-tenths of its imports. From the "nonparticipating countries," which means the Russian orbit, including eastern Germany, our bizonal Germany will draw somewhat more than three-tenths of its imports.

But by 1952, if the Marshall plan has been adopted and works as now calculated, Bizonia will be drawing as much from the Soviet orbit as from the Western Hemisphere.

The hard and unalterable fact is that the Marshall plan cannot be made to work unless the cold war diminishes, unless reciprocal trade opens up large holes through the iron curtain, unless economic intercourse between east and west transcends the ideological and political conflict between east and west.

The Marshall plan is officially called, and quite correctly, the European recovery program; it cannot be made to work, its promises cannot be fulfilled, if it is merely a western European recovery program.

If then we had to assume that congress will not accept the plan on terms which permit and encourage the kind of intercourse and mutual aid to which Gen. Clay looks forward with the Soviet orbit—if also we had to assume that Moscow's bitter opposition to the Marshall plan is implacable—then the Marshall plan is bound to fail.

The economic calculations of the plan require cooperation; the political and ideological conflict prevents it. We shall witness the collision of an irresistible force with an immovable object.

Real Iron Curtain

But we do not have to make either of these two mutually destructive assumptions. We do not have to assume that the American people can be persuaded to do great things only if they are frightened and angry. They have in the past and, I think, they will now support the idea of a constructive peace if they can be shown that there is a reasonable good practical chance of getting it.

The real obstacle to trade between west and east is not the iron curtain; it is that neither western Europe, including western Germany, nor eastern Europe has enough goods to trade.

The great virtue and force of the Marshall plan in respect to the division of Europe is not that it enables the west to live without the Soviet orbit but that it enables the west to develop good bargaining power in order to trade with the Soviet orbit.

That is the way the Marshall plan was originally "sold" to the world, and with all due respect to the public relations experts in the Truman administration who think otherwise, it is still the best way to sell it to the whole world. It is certainly the only truthful way to sell it to anyone.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"The Walking Man"

There is a successor to "Miss Hush" on the radio. It is called "The Walking Man," and it will make millions of American radio fanatics into sleepwalking men and women. The clues come through microphonic footsteps and these lines:

Bing, bong bell,
It's ten and only one can tell;
The master of the Metropolis
Fits his name quite well.

The Twitchells, needing a super-limousine, an airplane, a season pass to Fort Knox and a few dozen iceboxes, washing machines, television sets, European trips and country estates gratis, got busy at once and are already groggy.

PHILLIPS

"Ding, dong, bell," said Elmer. "There's the whole tip-off. It's in a nursery rime. What man do we know who walks through nurseries?"

"It was distinctly bing bong bell over the air," insisted the wife. "Dong dong bell is the soft bell of that old Mother Gooser about the pussycat that fell into the cupboard and was hauled out by Little Jack Horner's Little Lamb."

"You're thinking of the one where Mistress Mary was behind the haystack fast asleep with Little Bo Peep," said Elmer.

"Bing bong bell would mean a loud bell.... It's Big Ben....The walking man's first name is Benjamin....No. I have it....Jack Benny," screamed the wife.

"A big bell would be the Liberty Bell....the bell of independence....Independence, Missouri....Harry Truman....We're as good as in!" said Elmer.

"I wish we had never studied the footsteps of Jack and Harry," lamented the wife. "The radio footsteps were heavy and stumbling, as if the man was dragging something."

"Truman is dragging plenty," snapped Elmer, "including his personal physician."

"Now let's see if we can tie up either with the next line....It's ten and only one can tell.... Ten nights in a barroom?...Would that be it?... Ten years before the mast?"

"That was two years," corrected Elmer. "Let's take the next line...'master of the Metropolis... Who is master of the Metropolis?"

"Money and power are masters of any metropolis. How about Tyrone Power?" asked the wife.

"Where does the bell fit in?"

"Maybe it's spelled belle. Tyrone is quote a lad with the ladies," suggested Mrs. Twitchell.

"But what's dragging?", asked Elmer.

"If you had seen 'The Captain From Castile' you would know. He is in so many fights he is even draggin' himself at the finish," replied the wife.

"It's too easy," said Elmer. "Then radio people always make it tougher than that. Let's go back to Jack Benny....What would be dragging behind him that would sound so heavy?"

"His jokes," said the wife.

Elmer Twitchell likes Benny. The crack started a pretty argument that went far into the night. But anyhow it got their mind off The Walking Man for the time being.

Silver Lining

The snow is high, the ice is thick;
There is no heat for me to cook;
But, ah, the mailman came today
And brought a Burpee's spring seeds book.

Small Favors

By TRUMAN TWILL

Whenever someone blows off about great inventions and discoveries, like the electric light, radio, the automobile and penicillin and wonders how civilization could get along without them, it's tempting to wonder how civilization would get along without:

The lines they paint down the middle of highways that make it possible for a befuddled motorist bowling along at 50 miles an hour on a dark night to keep himself reasonably remote from the crazy fool going in the opposite direction at 75;

The erasers they put on pencils for dimwits that don't know their own minds and must write down everything wrong before they can write it down right, a trial-and-error setup formerly handled inefficiently by digging the error off the paper with a knife.

Packages of pre-cooked breakfast food that can be snatched off the shelf, moistened with milk and spooned up double-quick when the bread-winner has lain slug-a-bed half an hour too long and doesn't have enough time to fortify himself for the day's struggle with even a piece of toast;

Books of paper matches that make it possible for all men and women to carry a source of conflagration on their person in as nearly a foolproof form as can be devised for the protection of saps who can't be trusted to handle fire without being insured against the consequences;

Typewriters that make it possible for anybody with anything to say to press a double handful of little buttons and say it in a form that can be read by any member of the intelligensia who has graduated cum laude from the 1st grade in the elementary school system;

Windows that enable sissies who don't like to be uncomfortable to sit inside and see practically everything worth seeing outside without putting forth any more energy than is required to keep the eyes open and to wiggle the eyeballs from side to side;

Drugstores that enable the human race to provide itself with such necessities as headache tablets, smoking tobacco, ice cream sundaes, newspapers and magazines.

Zippers that have made it practical for the designers of clothing to lick the problem of providing a place for human beings to get inside a garment without at the same time creating a sucker trap baited with buttons that always came off or came unbuttoned at the least opportune moment;

Furnaces that freed mankind from bondage to the woodpile and the shovel eight months a year in the winter belt and shifted a householder's responsibility from himself to a little thingus known as a thermostat.

The secret of civilization isn't big inventions and discoveries. It's a million handy gadgets that make civilization bearable.

MARION
Frozen Food Center and Locker Plant
To Our Customers and Friends . . .

For some time the people of Marion and vicinity have been asking for additional Locker Space in a Modern Refrigerated Locker Plant — which they could use conveniently — close to home, without having to drive to other towns.

Our Plant on Baker Street is nearing completion. We cordially invite you to watch this paper for our opening, at which time you can inspect the New Plant in detail.

With the sharp increase in food prices, the use of a Refrigerated Locker means greater savings on your family food bill than ever before — and a savings of thousands of dollars each year to the community.

CHILL ROOM
Here — all meats are first cooled and aged to permit them to be cut into steaks, roasts and chops—or ground into hamburger or sausage—to your order. Forced-air cooling maintains proper humidity —to eliminate shrinkage.

At the same time, it provides fresh meat, poultry, fruits and vegetables the year around — improves the family diet—and aids materially in our standard of living.

We feel that in providing Marion with the finest locker services available anywhere, we are rendering a real service to the entire community. We believe the demand for lockers will be immediate and large. We urge you to see us at once and reserve a locker for your family.

FOOD LOCKERS
LOCKER ROOM
Here—in big, roomy air tight, all steel, 600 individual lockers, each with its own key, your foods are kept until you call for them.

DEEP FREEZE ROOM. Here—after being cut, the meats are carefully wrapped in special waxed locker paper—then placed in the Deep Freeze Room, at a below zero temperature—to preserve all their original flavor, freshness, and vitamin content. After being frozen, your foods are placed directly in your locker—ready for use.

Italian Girl, Jilted By Death, To Stay Single

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—Maria Formicola, the 21-year-old Italian girl who learned upon arriving in New York that the ex-soldier she came here to marry was dead, has decided to stay single for awhile.

Miss Formicola said she has returned to Frank Alfidi, a Navy veteran, the engagement ring he persuaded her to accept while she was being detained on Ellis Island.

Relatives said Miss Formicola had accepted the ring only because she was upset by the shock of learning James McIntosh of Guerant, Ky., her fiance, had died in an auto accident.

At that time she faced immediate return to Italy. Now she hopes to obtain an extension of her visitor's permit. She has received scores of proposals by mail, some from as far west as California.

SCHAFFNER'S

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

BY the time Mr. "K." finished his apparently artless little speech, I realized what his ruse was and wondered if it were going to work.

We were not left long in doubt. He hardly had finished speaking when there came a demoniac howl of protesting anguish from the man on the floor.

"For Gawd's sake, don't give us no hypo, Mister!" one of them shrieked. "We won't make no trouble if you blindfold and gag us, but keep the needle away from us. You might just as well put us in the chair, and be done with it!"

"Don't worry!" the FBI man told them sardonically. "You will land in the chair eventually, if you keep on in your present course. But if you give us no trouble, I'll lay off the needle for the present. But remember, one single movement of resistance, and you'll be jabbed."

"Mice won't have nuthin' on us, Mister," the other thug answered, and I saw Mr. "K's" lips twitch ever so slightly, knew that he was sharing the amusement of all of us at the sudden change from boastful truculence to meekness which his threat had made in the captured desperadoes.

"We might as well get to work," he said, and produced a small compact parcel from inside his coat. "But I have only enough here for one man."

"I have enough for the other one," Miller said, producing a similar packet from his own coat.

"Good! I rather thought you could come across," the FBI man said approvingly. "All right! Let's begin!"

The blindfolding was most efficient. When it was finished, Mr. "K." spoke again to the bound men.

"We're going to stuff cotton in your ears now," he said. "But before we do, I'm going to make a proposition to you. If you can keep your mouths shut, we'll wait to gag you until just before we start out of here. I don't dare run any risk of your letting out a yell in the halls. But up here we can omit the gags, and we'll take 'em out as soon as you reach—where you're going."

"We won't open our mouths," the thugs exclaimed as with one voice. Then one of them bolstered his courage.

"Where are we going?" To jail? Can't you tell us that?"

"You'll find out when you get there," the FBI man told them. "And if you're reasonable, you won't be treated roughly."

"That means if we squeal," the man answered, stolid comprehension in his voice. "Well," he added stoically, "time enough to cross that bridge when we get to it."

"I think you'll find it advisable to cross the bridge," Mr. "K" said significantly, but neither of the men answered him, and he and Miller proceeded to stuff the ears of the two desperadoes with cotton. Then they laid out the gags on the table, ready for instant use, finishing their task just as the knocker sounded in a series of taps with spaced silence between them.

Miller lifted his head alertly, evidently recognizing the signal, but he did not speak, and Philip Veritzen started for the door.

"That's Olsen's knock," he said, and the next few seconds brought the rotund figure and round pleasant face of the Lansfield manager into the room.

We all greeted him with real pleasure and Philip introduced him to Mr. "K." who also gave him courteous cordiality. Then the FBI man spoke to the Landsfield's owner.

"If you don't mind," he said, "I would like the coming confab to take place in another room. I realize that when these babies have the gags in their mouths they could pose for the three little images who 'see not, hear not, speak not.' But I never quite trust ear stuffing, and I'd feel better if we talked somewhere else than in the same room with our trussed-up friends."

"Of course," Philip Veritzen said. "Just come into the library. I suppose you'll want Miller and Adams to stay here and watch over the captives?"

KENTON BANKER RETIRES AT 96

H. W. Gramlich Active More Than 70 Years.

Special to The Star

KENTON—Henry W. Gramlich, 96, vice president of the First National Bank, today had announced his retirement after more than 70 years of active association with banking in Kenton. He retires in good health, and in high spirits.

For the last 70 yars he has been engaged in waiting on customers and in the other day-to-day business of banking.

In accepting his retirement, the board of directors voted Mr. Gramlich a monthly salary for the remaining years of his life.

Mr. Gramlich was born in Hardin county and came to Kenton as a banker at the age of 26 after teaching for four years in this county following his schooling at Ohio Northern university.

His father, the late John F. Gramlich, was an incorporator of the Hardin Savings Bank in 1875. Henry Gramlich was secretary of that bank, and had he remained until May 1 of this year he would have been in association with banking in Kenton for a full 73 years.

He was also one of the funders of the Ohio Machine Tool Co. in Kenton. Still active in community interest, he is a regular attendant at the weekly meetings of the chamber of commerce and the Rotary club, in both of which he holds honorary lifetime memberships.

3 KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

By The United Press

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 19—A hot box was blamed today for the wreck of two Grand Trunk Railway freight trains that killed three crewmen, destroyed one locomotive and 22 cars, and melted a viaduct. State police said a hot box on one car of an eastbound train caused it to jackknife across the tracks into the path of a westbound freight yesterday. Two tank cars of fuel oil, one of gasoline and one of corn syrup ignited and burned so furiously that firemen were unable to get close enough to recover the bodies of the trainmen.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

A RAILROAD strike is threatened for Feb. 1. Don't expect it before April 1, if it happens at all.

The government will step in this week in a way that always delays a threatened strike at least 60 days.

Here's an ABC on it.

Three unions, with 238,000 members, want a raise of about $8 a day and 44 changes in working conditions.

If they struck, these unions—engineers, firemen and enginemen, and switchmen—could tie up the whole country.

MARLOW

(Nineteen other railroad unions, with 1,200,000 members, have settled for a raise of about $1.24 a day. They're not in this dispute.)

Before going into more details, here's some background.

In 1926 congress passed the railway labor act, a very special law which applies to railroads and airlines but to no other business.

The railroads and unions asked for it to help them settle their arguments peacefully and avoid strikes if possible.

The law sets up the steps for doing that, if the railroads and unions want to take those steps. They don't have to.

The whole act is voluntary. The unions and railroads can ignore all of it or any part of it. There's no penalty if they do.

But both sides have always followed most of the steps in the law. Public opinion would be against the side which didn't.

THE THREE MAIN steps are: The mediation board, the arbitration board, and a board of fact-finders. They go like this:

1. When they can't settle a dispute, either side, or both, can ask the mediation board to step in. Or the board steps in unasked.

This is a permanent, three-man government board. Its job is to try—it can't compel—both sides to reach a settlement. If it fails—

2. It asks both sides to let an arbitration board—in this case a three-man board chosen by both sides—settle the dispute by hearing the arguments and giving a decision that is final.

Neither side has to agree to such a board. Unless both agree, there can be no arbitration. If both agree, then both must accept the board's decision. If arbitration is refused, then—

3. The mediation board tells the President there's a national emergency because a railroad strike lies straight ahead. Promptly the president appoints a board of three or more fact-finders.

These fact-finders examine the case and tell the President what they think a fair settlement would be.

THE LAW SAYS THERE shall be no strike for at least 60 days after the fact-finders are appointed.

(Actually, a union could strike anytime from the start of the dispute: before the mediation board steps in, while it's working, before fact-finders are appointed by the President, while the fact-finders are working, or anytime within or after 60 days.

(But no union has ever struck until the fact-finders had finished and the 60 days elapsed.)

Because of the weight of public opinion, both sides are supposed to accept the recommendations of the President's fact-finders. They do not have to. Unions twice have refused: in 1943 and in 1946.

So much for the background.

THE PRESENT DISPUTE started in June. The mediation board stepped in Nov. 24. Last week, knowing it had failed, it asked both sides to accept arbitration. This was refused by the unions.

Over the weekend the unions said they'd strike Feb. 1. So today the mediation board was to tell the President there's a national emergency. He's expected to appoint fact-finders quickly.

In the war year of 1943 the unions turned down a fact-finders' recommendation. President Roosevelt then proposed a wage settlement which the unions accepted.

In 1946 two unions not only turned down a fact-finders' recommendation but one by President Truman, too, and struck for 48 hours. Mr. Truman broke the strike by preparing to use troops on the trains.

Two unions, the trainmen and engineers, were in the 1946 strike. The engineers, but not the trainmen, are in this dispute.

HARDING cagers tried a new approach against Columbus North Saturday night and it seemed to work . . . The idea was to shoot whenever there was an opening, even if it meant taking a long shot . . . There were plenty of long shots, and almost none of them connected, but the Prexies got the idea and tried 67 times, connected on 19 for a 28.3 per cent figure of accuracy . . . Some teams seem to get better results peppering the basket from anywhere on the court, while others try for accuracy and work the ball in towards the basket before shooting. A team using the shotgun technique is bound to send some of them through the hoop, but if playing a neat team, they'll have to be better at getting the rebounds and keeping control of the ball, or they'll come out on the short end. Coach Pete Howison of the Jayvees likes the accuracy appoach but will use the scatter shot in a pinch. After accuracy failed in the three games previous to the meeting with North, Varsity Coach Kenny Somerlot felt the pinch

THE WIN over North proved that Marion is on a par with at least one Columbus team. They'll get a chance to try Columbus West again in two weeks, and will run into Central, Columbus City loop leaders, on Feb. 20. The Prexies have already demonstrated they can take another of the Central District basketball teams—Delaware, whom they trounced 60-44 early this season. Other Central District foes they may meet in the district tournament starting March 2 in Columbus are Bexley (who shaded them, 37-35 in their opener), Grandview, St. Charles, Upper Arlington, Circleville, Mt. Vernon, Newark, Washington C. H., Wesierville, and the other city loop teams, South, Linden and Aquinas.

WIN OR LOSE, the North Polar Bears have a lot of spirit. After the Bearcubs lost to the Prexy Reserves in the preliminary game, they came right back to cheer their older brothers and five of them even came over to the Marion side to lead a Harding cheer. The younger Bears have won four and lost five games.

BERNARD (Bernie) BERENS, former coach at St. Mary and present athletic director of the Lancaster Boys' Industrial School has indicated he'll relinquish his duties next fall because of ill health, according to a news report from Columbus. Bernie coached at Lancaster before coming to St. Mary. He was a star cager at Ohio university and has been with the BIS for the past five years.

PREXIES TAKE NORTH, 45-40

Riddle Ties Up Game With Last Minute Scoring Spree

By BILL DIEM

Dick Riddle came through in the clutch for Marion Harding Saturday night, sending in three field goals in a row to tie up a game with Columbus North and sent it into an extra session enabling teammates Jim Coss, Dick Gherman and Jim Rea to tuck the game away with a basket apiece and give the Presidents their third win in eight starts with a 45-40 decision over the invading Polar Bears.

The game very nearly went to the Columbus quintet in the closing seconds of the regular play when Jim Rea drew a technical foul (for beefing about a decision of referee A. B. Long in awarding North the outs after a scramble for the ball) thus giving the Polar Bears a trip to the charity line, but the pressure was too much for North's forward Sam Clark and his try for the winning point fell short of the basket amid the screams of the fans. It was the colored star's only free throw of the game.

The regular game ending in a 39-all tie, it went into an overtime, with Jim Coss dropping in a pivot shot to score what proved to be the winning point. Dick Gherman's push shot and Rea's layup iced the game, and North counted but one point in the extra session, a free throw made by Dick Hyatt.

At the end of the extra three minutes of play, pandemonium broke loose briefly on the Edison Junior High court but dissipated as the common locker rooms swallowed victor and vanquished.

The Presidents meet Ashland next Friday night, Columbus West a week after.

Close Game

The game was close all the way with the lead changing hands nine times in the first three quarters. Harding trailed going into the final period, 32-28, and didn't catch up until Riddle sent in his third fielder in the closing minute.

The Prexies shot oftener than the Polar Bears, making good on 19 of 67 attempts. North tried 46 and connected on 17 for the better percentage.

The Clark brothers, Eddie and Sam, scored 15 and eight points for the invaders. They are brothers of ex-Ohio Stater Jimmy Clark. Eddie, a center, went out on fouls in the overtime. Capt. Lloyd Maddie, a guard and one of the high scorers in the Columbus circuit, went to the showers early in the fourth period after counting three field goals and one free throw.

None of the Prexies had to leave for collecting five fouls; none had more than three.

Dick Riddle led the locals with six baskets; Gherman made four and a pair of free throws.

Reserves Win 7th Game

The Harding Jayvees made it seven wins in eight starts by shading the North youngsters 40-33.

Harding made nine fielders in the first quarter in 19 shots from the floor—Roger Andrews, Bill Buckingham, Dick Leffler, and Andrews again sending in four baskets in four attempts at the start of the game before any of the hot Prexy quintet missed. Their 15-8 advantage in the first quarter gave them a healthy lead never yielded, though North drove to within five points in the last frame.

The Prexies stalled the game out in the fourth quarter, playing well out from the basket to draw out the Polar Bear zone defense. Dick "Richie" Wolfe, Prexy forward, played a particularly good defensive game while center Roger Andrews counted 13 points to lead the offense.

Jayvee Coach Pete Howison confided that the North quintet really was the better team but that his boys were hot. Still, it was their seventh win in eight starts.

EWELL BLACKWELL GOLFS, FISHES, SIGNS CONTRACT

By The Associated Press

SAN DIMAS, Calif., Jan. 19—Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's lean righthanded pitching ace, says he hasn't touched a baseball since last October.

The leading National league twirler last season yesterday listed his sole accomplishments in the off-season as signing a contract for approximately $23,000; adding 20 pounds to his six foot-six inch frame, golfing, fishing, kibitzing at sports events and painting the kitchen of his parents' home here.

Last year's 22-game winner figures the added weight will help him next season, but he isn't too optimistic about the Reds' chances "unless we happen to get hot."

HARRISON WINS RICHMOND OPEN

Payment to Money Winners Held Up by Suit.

By The Associated Press

RICHMOND, Calif., Jan. 19—Good natured E. J. (Dutch) Harrison today had only a blank check—wholly blank, that is—to show for his smashing, 15 under par victory in the $10,000 Richmond Open golf tournament.

Similar blank checks also went to all of the other "money winners."

Harrison's share for his sensational 72 hole 273, including a course record 65—seven subpar—in the opening round, will be $2,000 when the P.G.A. cashes those blank checks.

The unusual action was taken because the three Negro golfers, all denied permission to compete sued the P.G.A. and the Richmond sponsors for $315,000—including potential prize money. The P.G.A. delayed payment in cash, it explained, to avoid the possibility of the $10,000 prize total being tied up in litigation.

Most of the golfers headed for Phoenix and its $10,000 open and the P.G.A. hinted very broadly the prizes would be paid across the state line.

Harrison's finishing drive gave him a two-stroke margin over Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., but the transplanted Texan made a great bid for top honors by firing a six-under 66 in the last round. Demaret ended up with 275.

Hockey Team Drops Debut to Czechs

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, Jan. 19—The United States' Amateur Hockey association team, beaten in its European debut, will show improvement in other preparatory contests this week, Coach Johnny Garrison promised today.

"This was the first time this team has played on outdoor ice," Garrison said in explaining the squad's 6-5 loss to Czechoslovakia's Olympic forces here yesterday.

The A.H.A. team hopes to represent the U. S. in the winter Olympics, beginning in St. Moritz, Switzerland, Jan. 30, although an A.A.U. aggregation supported by the U. S. Olympic committee is en route to the scene by air with the same idea in mind.

Hochstetler, pastor.

A song by the group and prayer by Mrs. Ina Clements closed the program. Games were played and refreshments served. Awards were won by Miss Lois Murray and Miss Linda Larkin.

BRUGGE SIGNS WITH CLEVELAND BROWNS

O. S. U. Mentor Wes Fesler Hopes He's the Last.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19—Football coach Wes Fesler of Ohio State university, who has lost more than his share of stars to the pros, crossed his fingers today and figured halfback Bob Brugge the last Buckeye to give up intercollegiate competition to join the "play for pay boys."

Brugge, 195-pound speedster, signed with the Cleveland Browns of the All-America conference over the weekend.

He was the second member of Ohio State's 1947 team to join the Browns despite another year of collegiate eligibility. Paul Brown, former Ohio State coach now directing the Cleveland pros, signed Dean Sensanbaugher, another fine halfback, to a contract a few weeks ago.

Brugge's signing left three members of Ohio State's prospective 1948 football team eligible to turn pro. The other are captain-elect Dave Templeton, a guard, and fullbacks Joe Whisler and Ollie Cline, whose classes either have graduated or will get diplomas next June.

Brugge, main cog in Ohio State's undefeated 1944 season, was slowed by injuries last season, as was Sensanbaugher. The Browns gained All-America conference rights to Brugge by trading Jeff Durkota, ex-Penn State star, to Buffalo last week. The Chicago Bears of the National league also sought Brugge

Galion Man Injured In Kentucky Auto Crash

Special to The Star

GALION—At first believed to have been seriously injured in an automobile accident near Maysville, Ky., Saturday, Edwin Guinup, about 34, had rallied, Sunday, in a Maysville hospital, according to word received here by H. W. Bradley, Guinup's father-in-law.

Guinup was returning to Galion from Sarasota, Fla., alone, and his car collided head-on with a big truck near Maysville, at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Word of the accident was received by the Gallon Iron Works and Manufacturing Co. where Guinup is employed. His condition was reported serious Saturday, but word received by Bradley, Sunday, stated that Guinup had a fractured knee cap, head cuts and other bruises, and was believed out of immediate danger.

Guinup's wife, the former Josephine Bradley of Galion, flew from Florida, Sunday, to be at the bedside of her husband. Guinup's sisters from this vicinity also went to Maysville, Sunday.

Ruling Gives Kent State Lead In Ohio Conference Cage Race

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19—Kent State's Golden Flashes are a cinch to be leading the 22-college Ohio conference basketball race at the end of this week's 44-game program, but a nip-and-tuck scrap is on for the statewide laurels.

The Kents swept into the league lead last week as George Daniel, commissioner of the big circuit, ruled that a Dec. 31 game between the Flashes and Mount Union — which the Mounts won 51-38—was an exhibition and not to be included in the records. That wiped out the only league loss for the Kents, and swung them to the top with five conference victories.

To Play 3 Games

This week, Kent plays three times, but won't be active in the conference. The Flashes go up against Youngstown, Steubenville and Xavier's talented Musketeers.

However, in the statewide race it's a different tale. Wilberforce State, last week's leader and last of Ohio's squads to meet defeat, bowed 36-30 to Kentucky State to make the chase as tight as a pair of under-sized shoes.

The Green county boys came right back to whip the Kentucky club 71-52 the next night, giving them six wins and a single loss, but that was a slim margin over Capital's state and conference champions of 1947 who have five conquests and one defeat.

This week Wilberforce takes on Defiance and Tennessee State while Capital continues its all-conference slate against once-beaten Otterbein and oft-defeated Ohio Northern. Should Otterbein upset the Lutherans, the Westerville boys could swing into the second spot, since they've been beaten only once in five starts.

All the state's teams, except Wilberforce, Capital and Otterbein have lost at least twice. Muskangum, Kent State, Wooster Marietta and Wilmington have dropped two each. The others have defeats ranging from three up to nine sported by Cedarville and Rio Grante.

Newt Still Hot

Rio Grande, despite its not-so-good won-lost record, offers in five-foot eight-inch Newt Oliver one of the state's top-flight point getters. The little fellow scored 30 Saturday against the Portsmouth branch of Ohio university, boosting his 13-game total to 287 points, of which 127 have been picked up from the free-throw line.

The Ohio teams, winners of 80 of 140 games with out-of-state opponents this year, play 16 interstate frays this week with Ohio State's jaunt to Purdue the headliner. The Ohio clubs, against foreign foes, have copped 80 and lost 26 on Ohio floors, while losing 34 and winning only 20 in invasions.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—Stocks edged forward in spots today although many market leaders continued to doze in slightly lower territory.

Brokers found the majority of their customers inclined to hold aloof or trim accounts pending more light on taxes, business and the foreign relief program. Dealings were quiet from the start.

The 3-for-1 split Bethlehem opened at 24½ on a 1,000-share block. The old stock ended Saturday at 100⅞. Follansbee Steel revived by more than a point following the company's earnings summary. Ahead at intervals were U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Schenley, American Woolen, Santa Fe and Paramount Pictures.

Occasional laggards were Chrysler, Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Woolworth, Boeing, Western Union, Anaconda, American Smelting, Union Carbide, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Texas Co., Twentieth Century-Fox and Loew's.

WALLACE PLATFORM APPROVED BY PCA

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 19—A policy platform embracing many of the expressions on domestic and foreign affairs by Henry A. Wallace in his campaign for the presidency had approval today of delegates to the second annual convention of the Progressive Citizens of America.

The statement of policy and authority to merge the organization into a third political party were approved yesterday by the approximately 500 delegates who had heard Walalce in a Saturday speech denounce both major parties and proclaim his own program to combat inflation.

In their policy platform, the PCA called for rejection of the Marshall plan and substitution in its place of the "Wallace plan for peaceful world reconstruction;" the immediate withdrawal of American military personnel and military aid from Greece and Turkey; withdrawal of all "support from the present feudal-militaristic clique that rules China;" support of "every effort to organize combined United Nations military operation" of Palestine; reimposition of price controls; enactment of the Taft-Wagner-Ellender housing bill in strengthened form, and repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

Plans for organization of a third party to support Wallace and formally nominate him as a presidential candidate will be discussed by leaders of various pro-Wallace groups April 12 at a meeting, probably in Chicago.

Bishop R. R. Wright Jr. of the African M. E. church at Oberlin, O., was elected a vice chairman of the Progressive Citizens of America and Robert W. Kenney of Los Angeles was reelected chairman.
